How "Bicyclist's Guide to Voting" is compiled:
The Bike Miami Valley Regional Advocacy Committee compiles the voter guide to provide a forum for candidates to discuss issues of walking, bicycling and street or trail
use that are important to our members.
Bicycling is a legal form of transportation in Ohio and has the same rules and rights to the roads as other vehicles. Letters with three questions were mailed to candidates in races within the Miami Valley area (counties that are represented in Bike Miami Valley's regional membership base). Candidate responses have been printed to fit formatting.
Candidates who did not respond or did not meet the stated deadline are listed at the end.
Asterisks (*) notes the incumbent candidates, underneath how many candidates a voter can select at the polls. Bike Miami Valley does not endorse or support views of any candidate or political party. Nor does Bike Miami Valley assume responsibility for the content of any candidate's reply.

Mission: To advocate, promote, and create opportunities for all forms of bicycling in the Miami Valley.

Question 1: Distracted driving and Ohio Senate Bill 285

On a typical day, more than 700 people are injured in distracted driving crashes, according to the National Safety Council. In a 2019 survey, AAA found that 74 percent of Ohioans strongly agree that the dangers of using a smartphone for texting, emailing, and social media can be as serious as drinking and driving. This is a constant worry for bicyclists and other vulnerable road users.

Today, distracted driving is a primary offense in Ohio only for drivers less than 18 years of age. SB 285 would make distracted driving a primary offense for all ages.

Do you support allowing officers to pull over and possibly cite anyone they see using a wireless communication device, as Ohio SB 285 would allow?

How would you work to make it happen?

Phil Plummer

Phil Plummer* – I support allowing officers to pull over and cited for distracted driving. This is a serious problem and needs to be addressed.

Cate Berger
Andrea White

Cate Berger – I am a proponent of this Senate Bill, and its efforts to curb distracted driving and further codify this statute across Ohio. I would vote to pass this measure in the House as an elected Representative and would work on the behalf of the constituents of the 41st to rally others to do so as well.

Andrea White – As elected Clerk of Court for Kettering Municipal Court for the past 16 and a half years, I see the impact of distracted and impaired driving on a regular basis. I also know that the legislation passed in 2018 that added the potential of an additional $100 fine on a driving offense if distracted driving is cited does not appear to be even making a dent in this problem.

As a parent, grandparent, driver and cyclist, I am concerned about what I see on the roads when I am walking, biking and traveling in a car. I support making distracted driving a primary offense in Ohio. Officer input, buy-in and training will be key to ensuring that implementation is effective and consistent statewide. Citations need to be well documented and defensible so that disputed cases can be properly adjudicated in court.

More also needs to be done to teach and change behavior and cultural norms. I support recommendations from Governor DeWine’s Distracted Driving Advisory Council, including increasing education on distracted driving in health classes, expanding content around distracted driving in Ohio’s Driver Education curriculum and adding distracted driving laws in the “Digest of Ohio Motor Vehicle Laws.” Effective promotion of driving without distraction through digital highway signs, educational materials, digital public service announcements and other ongoing education and norming strategies will be necessary to effect cultural change.

Kim McCarthy

Kim McCarthy – We already have adequate laws against distracted driving (forbidding texting while driving [ORC 4511.204 as well as ORC 4511.991]). I’m not a lawyer, but a reading of SB 285 seems to indicate that using my GPS while driving could also be considered an offense. How is that reasonable? I would suggest that rather than adding yet another law to the mix, we should direct our focus on better educating drivers—especially teens and new drivers—about the dangers of cellphone use, and on enforcing those existing laws that are available to address this problem.

Melanie Wilt*

Melanie Wilt* – I would support law enforcement officers enforcing the law created in SB 285 to improve public safety. As a county commissioner, I can serve as a resource to law enforcement in the sense that we provide budgetary dollars for patrols from the county general fund. By making economic development a priority, this helps support a healthy general fund, which in turn supports healthy law enforcement resources in our community.

Colin Morrow

Colin Morrow – I support allowing officers to pull over and possibly cite anyone of any age that they see using a communication device that is near the driver’s face. So, devices mounted in the car being used for GPS or other uses would be exempt. I do believe smart devices in the car can lead to distracted driving and resulting in accidents. Distracted driving should be a primary offense for any age. I would advocate for and support Ohio Senate Bill 285.

Judy Dodge * – Yes, it would be necessary to reach out to our local law enforcement to ensure their support, as well as state legislators to encourage the passage of SB 285.

Arlene Setzer – While a State Representative for Ohio, I sponsored 2 supporting biking bills, HB 389, the Speed Transition Bill and HB 176, the Share the Road both signed into law by the Governor. I believe driver awareness of the laws were accomplished with road signs and social media spots.

Additionally, I suggest supplemental communication to drivers by asking:

- My State Representative and Senator to include an article in their communications with their constituents.
- My local government officials to include an article in their communications.
- Local service clubs to mention at their meetings and in their bulletin.
- My email contacts to share my article to others.

I will continue to work with the biking community to promote bike safety.

Debbie Lieberman* – We hear about accidents and deaths caused by distracted drivers all too often. I believe that SB 285 would act as a much-needed additional deterrent to keep our roadways safe for anybody who may be using them, whether you are in a car, on a bike, or going for a jog. SB 285 would modernize existing state legislation to keep up with current technology.

Montgomery County Engineer

Paul Gruner*

Paul Gruner* – Yes, I have asked the County Engineers Association of Ohio to support SB 285. They will work with the association and their lobbyist when the bill has committee hearings, which is the most effective time to take action. While there may need to be some edits to the bill, I think the CEOA will be supportive. I also presented the issue to the Ohio Council of County Officials, where I represent CEOA, and the OCCO passed a resolution of support.

Question 2 (for state candidates): Active Transportation Policy

The Ohio Department of Transportation has determined that Active Transportation (walking or biking) are “essential transportation options in Ohio communities.” ODOT’s Active Transportation Program has been created to address “the needs of people walking and biking while helping build local, regional and state-level capacity to ensure that walking and biking are safe, comfortable and convenient transportation options.”

Do you support this program, and what would you do to promote its use?

Would you support appropriating funds to promote Active Transportation and build facilities to allow it to happen?

Cate Berger – I absolutely support this program for the mental health, physical health, transportation, and economic benefits it provides. Promoting it would be a great opportunity to communicate with our schools, with our businesses and community partners, as well as with other members of the state legislature on the multiple benefits of this type of investment in our communities. I would absolutely support the appropriation of funds for this type of community building project.

Andrea White – Certainly, ODOT’s Active Transportation Program is a good thing and I would support appropriating funds to promote it and build facilities. With COVID-19 causing, among other things, a gaping hole in Ohio’s budget, it may take awhile for funding to be at the desired levels. Seeking local community foundation, government and corporate/business support can help initiatives take root.

Grassroots/community level buy-in and promotion through special events, infusing awareness into existing community festivals, concerts, etc., and engaging cycle shops, business and community groups, schools and other entities as partners in promotion can help increase the use of active transportation.

Kim McCarthy

Kim McCarthy – Encouraging walking and biking – and providing the infrastructure improvements to do so safely – would benefit everyone individually and the community as a whole. I’m sure I speak for many of us when I say we need more exercise! With the benefits of better physical and mental health, fewer problems with traffic congestion, and a cleaner environment, walking and biking need to become a larger part of our everyday lives. The Active Transportation Program can help that happen. It deserves our support and funding.

Question 2 (for county candidates): Complete Streets

Complete Streets policies are based on the belief that everyone – regardless of age, ability, income, race, or ethnicity – ought to have safe, comfortable, and convenient access to community destinations and public places, whether they are walking, driving, bicycling, or taking public transportation. The policies are necessary because too many of our streets are designed only for speeding cars or creeping traffic jams.

By adopting a Complete Streets policy, communities direct their transportation planners and engineers to routinely design the entire right of way to enable safe access for all users, regardless of age, ability, or mode of transportation.

Would you support such a policy for the engineering and planning departments in your jurisdiction?

And what would you do to make that happen?

Clark County Commission Term Candidates

Melanie Wilt*

Melanie Wilt * – There are no engineering departments in our jurisdiction. The Clark County planning office is part of the County Commission departments, and as such works hard to manage planning according to a county comprehensive plan, known as Connect Clark County. This was updated in the last couple years with the help of the Transportation Coordinating Committee and accepted by the Commission. We use it as a guide for decisions in County Planning Commission particularly for planning and zoning guidance. I would support conversation about how a complete streets policy could be developed for future road construction projects.

In Fairborn we have started adding bike lanes to our streets and have received positive feedback and have noticed the City of Xenia did the same. I would advocate that county and municipal engineers consider complete streets in their planning. If they do not include components of Complete Streets plans in their planning, then they would need to explain why they did not.

for new street design accommodates all modes of transportation, whenever possible.

Arlene Setzer – As the recent past mayor of Vandalia, I was instrumental in planning for a safe bicycle route with signage and designated bike lanes from the west boundary of the city to the east side. At the eastside point (Taylorsville Dam and bikeway from Tipp City) work is in progress to easily connect the bikeway trail. This point of access has the Vandalia Golf Course (Cassel Hills Golf Course) has use for parking, if necessary, and rest facilities with food available. As development occurs, other amenities are planned. I did support the engineering and planning and Vandalia is on our way to make it happen.

Debbie Lieberman* – I believe in and advocate for 'shared streets'. I believe in investing in people and that means all people. I believe that personal travel, commerce and recreation can co-exist. To the extent possible, as a County Commissioner, I work to make sure we look at all of the ways that we make sure our resources address 'shared streets' concepts.

I know that local jurisdictions and the Montgomery County Engineer are committed to creating safe travel environments that support multiple types of travel.

Montgomery County Engineer

Vote for 1

Paul Gruner*

Paul Gruner* – We essentially have that policy in the County Engineer's Office. Projects that we do that involve improving sections of road always involve federal funds, so we follow the MVRPC Complete Streets Policy. One example is our Third Street Bridge project, which will have a 10' walk on the north side and a 17' trail on the south side. In addition, we are re-connecting the trails under the bridge and providing a new connection in cooperation with the MCD. We are also providing bas reliefs on the walls on each side of both projects commemorating local history and peace. On small projects that don't involve federal funds, we always consider whether there are needs for connections that can be incorporated. Our rural county roads are not bike friendly but would require significant investments to widen that we just don't have. Only experienced riders should use them. In most areas of the county, the off-road trails system (which I brag about to people in other regions and states whenever I get the chance) provides preferable options. The Montgomery County Planning Commission has standards for roads in new developments. Their standards provide for sidewalks but could certainly be updated to reflect bike needs. We work for the MCPC in implementing their standards in new subdivisions, but do not have a seat on their commission. Your organization should probably work with individual planning commission members regarding this item. I will talk with Erik Collins to get his take on this.

Question 3. Clean Ohio Funds

Clean Ohio Recreational Trails Funds have created more than 600 miles of multi-purpose, recreation trails in the state. With trail use increasing by up to 200 percent, the COVID-19 crisis has demonstrated how important these trails are for Ohioans' physical and mental health. Trails also benefit nearby businesses and provide needed transportation options for those without cars. Unfortunately, continuing funding for the Clean Ohio Recreational Trails program is not assured.

Do you support full funding of the Clean Ohio Recreational Trails Fund? How would you work to provide that?

Cate Berger – I support the mission of the Clean Ohio Recreational Trails Fund and its full funding. In 2021, we will have the opportunity to create a new budget for the biennium. An important goal of my candidacy is being a voice for the constituents of the 41st district. I will be an active voice for the overall health and development that comes from our robust trails system being maintained and expanded. This is an issue which I will work to garner bipartisan support in the Ohio House.

Andrea White – My husband and I have been using our area recreational trails since we first met more than 35 years ago. While the campaign trail has caused me to shorten my bike rides and time exploring new trails, I am still using the ones close to me on a regular basis. I support funding of the Clean Ohio Recreational Trails Fund. Again, with current and immediate future budget constraints, it will be important to tie the public health benefits, including strengthening Ohioans' mental and physical health, to helping to work for full funding. Providing documented impact on helping businesses grow and thrive will also be key in generating support.

Kim McCarthy – The Clean Ohio Recreational Trails Fund is an important and useful program that encourages Ohioans to walk and bike more. Not only has it increased the availability of safe trails in our communities, but by reducing motor vehicle traffic when people can walk or bike to school and work, it helps the environment as well. More trails serve to help lead to a healthier life for us all. Because of the many varied benefits, funding should be available from a number of different sources—health and safety, infrastructure, clean-air initiatives—and I would support efforts that worked to ensure that funding remains secure.

Arlene Setzer – Having worked both at the state and local level, I completely understand the need and importance of funding. for state senator and is the most fiscally conservative person in the legislature. Please update me on the status and the appropriate time for action.
